A few possible questions:

1. What constitutes a “cool roof”?
2. What are the 5 major types of roof products available and approximate comparative cost?
3. How should the owner or architect address existing non-drainage areas?
4. What are a few of the roofing standards of design and detailing that will maintain the roofs impervious nature?
5. Does all of the existing roof top equipment need to be removed and re-installed?
6. When is it time to replace the existing sheet metal flashing, drains and overflows?
