WIA is proud to invite you to this collaborative event co-hosted by Interrobang – a Lecture Series. WIA participants have the rare opportunity to attend a private Q&A session with esteemed architect and educator, Adele Santos.

Tickets can be pre-purchased at website shown above. Tickets can also be purchased at the door with cash, check or credit card.

Adèle Naudé Santos, FAIA, is an architect and urban designer whose career combines professional practice, research, and teaching. Ms. Santos has won international design competitions, published work in journals worldwide and has worked in cultures as diverse as Japan, Africa, and the United States. Ms. Santos is currently Dean of the School of Architecture and Planning at MIT, as well as principal architect in the San Francisco based firm, Santos Prescott and Associates.

Her academic career includes professorships within the graduate programs of UC Berkeley, Harvard, Rice University and the University of Pennsylvania where she served as chairman of the Dept. of Architecture. She was also founding Dean of the UC San Diego School of Architecture and has had numerous visiting appointments throughout the world.

Ms. Santos is currently working on an affordable housing project for 80 artists including gallery and performance space in Venture, CA and has recently completed Mission Creek Senior Housing, a building that has 140 affordable units as well as a library and an adult day health center.
